11:00am | Artemis I Post-Launch News Conference
3:00pm | Coverage of Orion's First Outbound Trajectory Correction Burn
4:30pm | Coverage of Orion's First Imagery of the Earth Following Trans Lunar Injection.

(Please be aware that this broadcasting is Satellite permitting. Also the launch could be canceled by NASA.)

"All eyes on it! Artemis I will be an uncrewed flight test that will provide a foundation for human deep space exploration, and demonstrate our commitment and capability to extend human existence to the Moon and beyond. During this flight, the spacecraft will launch on the most powerful rocket in the world and fly farther than any spacecraft built for humans has ever flown. It will travel 280,000 miles from Earth, thousands of miles beyond the Moon over the course of about a four to six-week mission. Orion will stay in space longer than any ship for astronauts has done without docking to a space station and return home faster and hotter than ever before."

WE'D LIKE TO HEAR FROM YOU

Men's fashion - Pants or designer jeans with a long sleeve shirt, button-down shirt or sweater. Sport coat or blazer is optional.

THE ART OF NAVIGATION

The birth of the art of navigation is said to have taken place around 3500 B.C. The first navigators stayed close to shore and navigated by sight of landmarks or land characteristics that they could see. Usually they traveled by day and sought a calm harbor or anchorage at night. One of the earliest man-made navigation tools was the mariner's compass, an early form of the magnetic compass. Initially used only when the weather obscured the sun or the North Star, these first compasses were very crude. Early mariners found the compass inconsistent - most likely because they did not understand that it pointed to the magnetic north pole, not true north Today's modern cruise ships are equipped with a multitude of high tech devices to keep their course as they trek across the globe to exotic ports of call.
